

DOMINIK FELSMANN

Dominik Felsmann is a Stuttgart-born and Brisbane-based music producer and songwriter.

Despite being raised playing classical instruments, he discovered his passion for electronic music at an early age and signed his first record deal at 15. By his twenties, he had DJed in over 25 countries.

After enjoying some early success in music, Dominik studied Business Management and pursued a career in management consulting, while continuing to do music production on the side.

In 2019, Dominik and his Australian wife moved to Brisbane after spending several years in Frankfurt. Since then, he's been working as a full-time music producer and songwriter for international pop and dance acts. His project "Felsmann + Tiley" is signed to Deutsche Grammophon and explores the intersection of classical, electronic and film music. Together with other local musicians, he is currently building a music studio complex in the Valley, which will open its doors in early 2022.